

Who's organizing the event?

The Emerging Media Creative Challenge is being organized with BUS: an organization with over two years of student engagement event experience. They're best known for the BC Game Jam, an annual event bringing together hundreds of students and professionals from across BC to build amazing things together. Although it started as a simple student collaboration initiative, BUS has since grown to a solid professional organization with the knowledge and skills to bring students together in ways others can't.